ReBulet to Albany 5/10/68! 100-449698-1

The New Left in Honolulu Division is centered in the membership of the Committee to End the War in Vietnam (CEWV) and the Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) at the University of Hawaii. Both organizations confine their activities to Honolulu.

The CEWV was founded in Honolulu by [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] and [REDACTED] remain as [REDACTED] of the organization. The CEWV holds small weekly meetings but succeeds in attracting a substantial number of people to their anti-war rallies and demonstrations.

SDS was organized at the University of Hawaii (UH) in the fall of 1967. February membership totalled 47 but this organization also is able to attract a substantial group of students to their anti-war and anti-draft rallies. SDS rallies have featured ostensible burning of draft cards, but there have been no other apparent illegal maneuvers until May 13 when, as a result of a sit-down in the street to halt a National Guard convoy, ten demonstrators were arrested. SDS is presently in the midst of a demonstration at UH protesting the denial of tenure to [REDACTED]. The demonstration started on May 20 and on May 21 more than 150 demonstrators were arrested at the UH and charged with loitering.

Local news media have been most efficient in publicizing the activities of the New Left. CEWV and SDS have made no effort to shun publicity but on the other hand have encouraged it. As a result, their demonstrations have received good play in radio, TV and newspapers. Photographers are present at SDS rallies and have photographed alleged draft card burnings and TV stations have identified the participants and interviewed them.

Local papers in late May 1967 publicized a highly inflammatory statement of the old Students Partisan Alliance. [REDACTED] was [REDACTED] to this organization and as a result of this publicity the [REDACTED] further disruption within CLWV occurred when [REDACTED] was removed from the Executive Committee of the [REDACTED] in January 1968.

For the present there appears to be no need to request Bureau authority to supply information or leads to any of the local cooperative news media as coverage of New Left in Hawaii is extensive. However, this office is considering the possibility of suggesting some manner of alerting families of SDS members on the mainland of their activities. It is believed that this can be accomplished when present cases for loitering are disposed of in court and reported in Honolulu newspapers.

The Agent and informants assigned to these investigations have been instructed to be alert for any evidence of immorality that might offer an opportunity for disruption. The two cases discovered to date, however, appear to offer little present potential. Young SDS members [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] were living together. They made no secret of the fact and both appeared in UH Student Directory as living at the same apartment so apparently their parents, who reside this division, were aware of the arrangement. SDS members [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] also live together. However, the arrangement offers little potential for disruption as Miss [REDACTED] applied for a passport and gave [REDACTED] address as her home. A pretext call to the home of [REDACTED] parents resulted in the reply that she was no longer there but could be reached at a telephone registered to [REDACTED]

The importance of this program will not be overlooked and as soon as the court cases on the SDS demonstrators are completed consideration will be given to requesting Bureau authority to take action by which some of the parents of these individuals may become aware of the activities of their offspring without the Bureau becoming involved.

The Honolulu Office will also remain alert and search for other methods of carrying out practical counterintelligence action against the New Left.

DATE: 6/13/68

Re Bureau letter to Albany dated 5/23/68 and Honolulu letter to the Bureau dated 6/1/68.

The New Left in the Honolulu Division is centered in the membership of the Committee to End the War in Vietnam (CEWV) and the Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) at the University of Hawaii (UH). Both organizations confine their activities to Honolulu.

(1) There have been no allegations of police brutality from either the CEWV or the SDS. CEWV demonstrations and marches are well patrolled by the Honolulu Police Department. The only arrests made by the Honolulu Police Department among the CEWV were in October 1966, at the UH when the group was picketing during the speech of President JOHNSON. Three individuals were arrested for disorderly conduct. Two were convicted and one forfeited bail.

100-447698-18-2
The SDS has had two recent encounters with the Honolulu Police Department. On 5/13/68, a group sat down in the roadway attempting to block a Hawaii National Guard convoy soon after the Guard was federalized. They were almost immediately picked up and moved to the sidewalk. The group was not arrested then, but subsequently ten warrants were issued and arrests made. 97

REC-50
The SDS and the Associated Students of the UH initiated a sit-in at Bachman Hall on 5/20/68. The doors to the building were locked at 5:00 p.m. The students remained inside but peacefully departed near midnight. The sit-in was resumed on 5/21/68 and shortly before 7:00 p.m., University officials requested police action to clear the building. More than 150 were arrested but the only force used by the police was that needed to carry two or three demonstrators from the building when they refused to walk. There were no charges of brutality.

(2) Referenced Honolulu letter pointed out that two cases of immorality have apparently been discovered within the SDS. Young SDS members [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] were living together. They made no secret of the fact and both appeared in the UH Student Directory as living at the same apartment so apparently their parents, who reside in Honolulu, were aware of the arrangement. A similar situation existed with SDS members [REDACTED] and [REDACTED]. Miss [REDACTED] parents, residents of Honolulu, were also apparently aware of the arrangement.

(3) On 4/26/68, the SDS and the Educators for Peace held a rally at the UH and thereafter, approximately 100 students marched to the Administration Building where they had a sit-in until they were able to talk with Dr. THOMAS HAMILTON, President. They presented a list of demands, including the abolishment of the Selective Service Office from the campus, the demand that all records in the [REDACTED] faculty hearing be made public, that courses in Black Culture and History be presented at the University, that recruitment by military and defense industries be stopped on the campus, that FBI Agents and police be permitted on the campus only when authorized by the administration, and that the students be given an effective voice in the selection of a new University president. The group departed the Administration Building when President HAMILTON advised that he had no authority to make the records public but he would ask the Regents to release the records in the [REDACTED] matter. He also advised that he had no authority to bar police from public meetings held in public institutions but he would direct a letter to the police and the FBI setting forth the students demands.

On 5/20/68, as previously pointed out, the SDS and the Associated Students of the UH initiated a sit-in at Bachman Hall. More than 150 were arrested on 5/21/68. The protest was renewed on 5/22/68 and continued through until 5/30/68. The entire sit-in was peaceful and there was no property damage. The demonstrators had a great deal of faculty support. Fifteen faculty members and five graduate assistants were among those arrested.

This office will continue to explore every possibility for embarrassment to the New Left organizations of this division.

HN 100-6546

[REDACTED] Apparently spending little time on his studies and devoting his energies to SDS, his grade average fell and he will not be allowed to continue in graduate school. The Department of State has also cancelled [REDACTED] East-West Center grant effective 6/15/68.

During the prolonged SDS and Associated Students of UH rally 5/20-30/68 called to protest denial of tenure to [REDACTED] the University Board of Regents met and affirmed the University President's decision not to grant [REDACTED] tenure.

Honolulu will remain alert for any practical counterintelligence action against the New Left.

The cases of the SDS demonstrators who sat in at Fort DeRussy on 5/13/68 have been heard in Magistrate Court in Honolulu, but a decision has not as yet been reached. and to "radically transform" the university community, and provide for its complete control by students. Gus Hall, General Secretary, Communist Party, United States of America, when interviewed by a representative of United Press International in San Francisco, California, on May 14, 1965, described the SDS as a part of the "responsible left" which the Party has "going for us." At the June 1965, SDS National Convention, an anti-communist proviso was removed from the SDS Constitution. In the October 7, 1966, issue of "New Left Notes," the official publication of SDS, and SDS spokesman stated that there are some communists in SDS and they are welcome. The national headquarters of this organization as of April 18, 1967, was located in Room 206, 1608 Madison Street, Chicago, Illinois.

The SDS at the UH was founded in the fall of 1967 by [REDACTED] a graduate student, and until June 15, 1968, an East-West Center grantee. The organization was not granted official recognition from the UH until October 31, 1967. [REDACTED] was President of the group for the first semester of the school year 1967-1968. On November 1, 1967, the SDS membership totaled 50 but the organization is able to attract several hundred students at its rallies and demonstrations.

the University of Hawaii

On November 14-15, 1967, the SDS picketed Marine recruiters at Hemenway Hall but there was no violence and no attempt was made to stop persons approaching the recruiters. At that time the SDS distributed a leaflet entitled "Get the Military Off Our Campus - End U.S. Complicity with Vietnam War."

On December 7, 1967, believing Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) recruiters were due on the campus, the SDS went to the UH Placement Office to protest and later distributed a leaflet "An SDS Statement, Why We Oppose CIA Recruitment on UH Campus." On the same date, the SDS held a rally and a few students proceeded to the office of the President where they held a brief sit-in. When the President did not appear, the group proceeded to the office of the Vice President of Student Personnel and requested a statement to the effect that the UH would have nothing to do with the CIA. They were refused and left.

On January 4, 1968, the SDS sponsored a rally and issued a policy statement supporting Assistant Professor [REDACTED] of the CEWV, had been notified by the University that he would not be granted tenure after an inflammatory statement was issued by the Student Partisan Alliance in May 1967. [REDACTED] was Faculty Advisor of the group. The statement called for consideration of infiltration of the Armed Forces and consideration of assassinating military officers.

During a rally at the UH on April 9, 1968, [REDACTED] an SDS member, called on students to resist all efforts to send the Hawaii National Guard to the mainland, and SDS member [REDACTED] called for an immediate march on Iolani Palace where the Governor's Office was located. Thereafter, more than 200 students responded and presented the Governor with a petition opposing the sending of the Hawaii National Guard to the mainland.

the University of Hawaii

The SDS held an anti-draft rally at the UH on April 11, 1968. Up to this time, the SDS rallies had been orderly. During the meeting, twelve students allegedly burned draft cards.

The SDS and a faculty organization opposing the War in Vietnam, "Educators for Peace," sponsored a rally at the UH on April 26, 1968.

Two students allegedly burned draft cards and a third burned what he claimed to be his induction orders. At the conclusion of the burnings, it was announced that the group would sit in at the office of the President of the University and present him with a list of demands. Smith, President, read a list of demands, including the withdrawal of credit for the ROTC program, the removal of the Selective Service Office from the campus, making public of all records in the [redacted] faculty hearing, the University cease functioning as a recruiter for the military and defense related industries, and that the students be given a voice in the selection of a new University president. Some 100 students thereafter marched to the President's office and presented their demands to President Hamilton, who replied that he would request the regents to make public the papers in the [redacted] case.

There was another alleged draft card burning at the SDS rally at the UH on May 10, 1968.

The SDS had no confrontation with the Honolulu Police Department until May 13, 1968, when members attempted to block a Hawaii National Guard convoy. However, this happened off the UH campus. Ten persons were later arrested for the incident.

The most important confrontation between the SDS and UH authorities started on May 20, 1968, when the SDS in cooperation with the ASUH initiated a sit-in at Bachman Hall, the University Administration Building. The students occupied the hallways in both floors of the building until it was closed at 5:00 p.m. They refused to leave and thereafter roamed through the building until midnight when they left. Before departing, they cleaned the building. The SDS and ASUH resumed their sit-in the following morning and remained in the building when it was closed at 5:00 p.m. After being repeatedly asked to leave by the faculty, more than 150 of the demonstrators were removed by the Honolulu Police Department and arrested under the charge of loitering. Twenty-two of those individuals were members of the faculty. The sit-in was announced in support of [REDACTED] and in hopes that the Board of Regents would grant [REDACTED] tenure. The demonstration was resumed on the morning of May 22, 1968, outside of Bachman Hall, which remained closed until May 24, 1968, when demonstrators were advised the regents would not consider meeting with them until the siege was lifted. Thereafter, the demonstrators allowed people to move in and out of Bachman Hall. On May 29, 1968, the Board of Regents announced that they would not grant tenure to [REDACTED] and the demonstration terminated on the following day.

the University of Hawaii

There was no damage during the demonstration. During the demonstration, the students received encouragement from numerous faculty members and several clergymen from Honolulu.

VIETNAM (HONOLULU) (CEWV)

On June 9, 1968 [REDACTED]

The Committee to End the War in Vietnam (CEWV) was organized in Honolulu, Hawaii in 1965 by [REDACTED] a local physician; [REDACTED] t [REDACTED].

Since its conception, the CEWV has held small weekly meetings and sponsored rallies, marches and demonstrations in protest of United States intervention in Vietnam. As of April 30, 1968, the CEWV began holding bi-weekly meetings instead of the weekly meetings.

Included in these activities were the following:

On April 15, 1968, President Lyndon B. Johnson was picketed by members of the CEWV, Honolulu, led by [REDACTED]

On May 13, 1968, members of the CEWV participated with other groups in picketing Fort DeRussy in protest of the federalizing of the Hawaii National Guard.

Members of the CEWV were also participants in the sit-in at the University of Hawaii, May 20-31, 1968, which was held in protest of the denial of tenure to [REDACTED] by University of Hawaii officials. This protest culminated in the arrest of 153 demonstrators, including [REDACTED] and other members of the CEWV.

UH drafts crackdown code for student malcontents

By Richard Hoyt
Star-Bulletin Writer

The University of Hawaii, with one bad year of student demonstrations behind it and prospects for more of the same in the coming year, has proposed to get tough with student malcontents.

Students and faculty who claimed a moral victory in the form of improved communication at the University after the 11-day campus sit-in in May, may now get a taste of the final University reaction to the demonstration.

The University has proposed a specific, tough new Student Conduct Code and Procedure.

This code would give the administration the basis to move against student demonstrations with clearly defined rules to back it up.

Robert W. Hiatt, acting president, today said the proposed code was formulated by the administration at the request of the Board of Regents.

"Back in May, they (the Regents) asked us if we had a code which helped us deal with these kinds of things (demonstrations) and we said no, we only had general guidelines."

"I think if we had had this type of code last May we could have handled a lot of problems without having to call for outside help."

Hiatt said the new code was part of an effort to get away from the idea of "in loco parentis" on campus — where the University acts as a student's parent.

"This code is not a threat to students but they are more independent now and should know what the rules are."

He said the National Student Association, in drawing up a student bill of rights last year, requested that universities make public specific rules governing student conduct.

The old code said simply that students are expected to observe "accepted University and community standards of conduct."

The new code makes abundantly clear what behavior will not be tolerated by the University.

The "types of misconduct" for which a student may be punished include:

—Conduct which "adversely affects the student's suitability as a member of the academic community."

—Obstruction or disruption of teaching research, administration, disciplinary procedures, or other University activities.

—Physical abuse or conduct which threatens the safety of any person on University property or at University functions.

—Theft of or damage to any campus property.

—Unauthorized use, presence or entrance into University facilities.

—Violation of University policies, administrative or campus regulations, including those concerning registration of student organizations, use of University facilities, or the time, place, and manner of public expression.

—Violation of rules governing residence in University property.

—Disorderly conduct or lewd, indecent or obscene conduct or expression on University property or at University functions.

—Failure to comply with the directions of University officials acting in the performance of their duties.

—Dishonesty, cheating, plagiarism, collusion, or forgery, alteration, or misuse of University documents, records, or identification, or giving false information to the University.

Under the new code students would be subject to penalties ranging from a reprimand to dismissal from the University.

A student could have his case heard either by the vice president for academic affairs or by a student conduct committee composed of students, faculty, and administrators. He could appeal any decision against him.

The Board of Regents will hold a public hearing on the proposed new code at 9:30 a.m. Thursday, Sept. 19, in the Pacific Room of Jefferson Hall, at the East-West Center.

Much of the May sit-in at Bachman Hall could be interpreted as having violated parts of the proposed new code.

Those include "lewd, indecent, or obscene behavior" as when a student shouted "Oh _____" into a microphone at an appearance by the regents.

The closing down of Bachman Hall could be construed as unauthorized presence in and use of University facilities. Failure of the students to leave Bachman Hall when ordered to do so by University officials would violate the new code.

The sit-in also could be considered as obstructing and disrupting teaching, and the sit-in, under the new administration-prohibited by code, could be construed as adversely affecting each one's "suitability as a member of the academic community."

INTERNAL SECURITY

On 11/18/68, 710th MID made available a photostat of a leaflet that was recently distributed on the campus of the University of Hawaii. A copy is attached hereto.

DIANA C. HANSEN, the signer of the leaflet, is a young student at the University of Hawaii who has been outspoken against the New Left and the Black Student Union. The Honolulu Division had no part in the preparation or distribution of the leaflet.

The photostat is forwarded as an example of a possible disruptive tactic.

Honolulu will consider similar type technique in the future in the Counterintelligence Program. The Bureau may wish to consider utilizing a similar leaflet in other divisions.

Studio-type free speech in Spaulding Hall is all right as long as its you that's speaking, isn't it? Obscenities are peachy-keeno as long as its you that's screaming them, aren't they? And its all right for you to throw temper tantrums when someone yells back.

Now our Movement has degenerated to the gutter. Where it belongs.

Listen, kiddies. We're getting sick of the same unimaginative four-letter words. We're sick of you loud-mouth groups walking all over our rights. The B.M. has pushed around one person too many. Cut out the Cannibalism!

DATE: 12/31/68

Re Honolulu letters to the Bureau dated 9/30/68 and 11/20/68.

One of the main vehicles of the New Left in the Honolulu Division is the Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) at the University of Hawaii (UH). The SDS resumed meetings on September 24, 1968, after being inactive during a good portion of the summer; however, dissention immediately broke out in the group and on November 25, 1968, the president resigned. As a result, there have been relatively few demonstrations by the New Left outside the campus of the UH. The SDS has continued weekly picketings of the Kaneohe Marine Corps Air Station since middle November, but the number of participants usually only numbered two dozen.

(1) Potential Counterintelligence Action

Six anti-war pickets were arrested in Honolulu in early morning hours of December 25, 1968. However, their arrests received good publicity from both daily newspapers and this action presents no potential counterintelligence action at the present.

(2) Pending Counterintelligence Action

None.

In the spring of 1968 [REDACTED] a Security Index subject of this office, started an underground newspaper, [REDACTED]. The publication consisted of reprints from "The Guardian," "The Berkeley Barb" and some Black Panther publications, and also published articles criticizing the Government and U.S. intervention in Vietnam. The paper features a frequent use of four-letter words. In the fall of 1968 [REDACTED] went out of existence.

It has recently been ascertained that [REDACTED] has resumed publication. The issue dated 2/1-15/69 sets forth the following staff:

[REDACTED]

Honolulu, Hawaii

It is noted that [REDACTED] mother has visited him in Honolulu and is undoubtedly aware of the type of publication edited by her son. The latest issue of [REDACTED] contained a front view of Beatle JOHN LENNON and his Japanese girl friend in the nude.

Bureau permission is requested for Honolulu to ascertain the address of the parents of the staff of [REDACTED] and merely forward to them in an unmarked envelope copies of the 2/1-15/69 issue of the paper.

Re Honolulu letter, 2/28/69.

The most prominent vehicle for the New Left movement in the Honolulu Division is the Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) at the University of Hawaii (UH). This group at the present time has approximately 15 to 20 activists and within the recent past their activities appear to be centered around the Micronesian affair and the CHEN Yu-hsi issue, wherein CHEN, a former student at the East-West Center, Honolulu, received a sentence upon returning to Taiwan on a conviction of treason.

(1) Potential Counterintelligence Action

In connection with the CHEN matter, the SDS conducted a sit-in at the Chancellor's Office of the East-West Center on 5/7, 8/69. The UH filed a complaint in the Circuit Court, First Circuit Court of Hawaii, which resulted in a temporary restraining order and directed the defendants (SDS members) to appear in court to show cause why a preliminary injunction order not be issued restraining them from further occupying the Chancellor's Office and from obstructing access to or egress therefrom and using or occupying Jefferson Hall or any other building or premises at the East-West Center, University of Hawaii. This matter is still pending and at the present time there appears to be no potential counterintelligence activity in connection with this issue.

Re Honolulu letter to the Bureau, 3/28/69.

The only new left organization in Hawaii is the Students for a Democratic Society - The Resistance (SDS-TR). This organization is composed of two separate organizations which formerly existed in Hawaii and in May, 1969 formed a coalition because of the fact the same individuals who belonged to the SDS were also associated with the Resistance.

This organization has in recent months held no rallies or demonstrations which involved violence. Currently it is sponsoring a sanctuary for servicemen at both the Church of the Crossroads, Honolulu, and the Unitarian Church of Honolulu, in which there are at the present time 25 servicemen in sanctuary. All of the activities of the SDS-TR are centered around this program.

1. Potential Counterintelligence Action

The Honolulu Office at the present time does not see any counterintelligence action that would be effective. The Honolulu Office is currently advising the military intelligence agencies in Honolulu of the activities of the SDS-TR and the movements of the individuals involved when known in order that it may assist those agencies in bringing about the apprehension of the servicemen involved.

The Students for a Democratic Society - The Resistance (SDS-TR) is the only New Left organization active in Hawaii at the present time. During the summer semester at the University of Hawaii many of the activists of this organization returned to their permanent residences on the mainland and many of the residents of the State of Hawaii who are activists in the SDS vacationed on the mainland. As a result, the activities of the SDS-TR were greatly limited. However, with the beginning of a new school semester, the activities of this organization will increase. At the present time, due to the fact the activities of this organization have just started, it is difficult to contemplate any practical counterintelligence action.
